Victorian State Election 2026

Every week on Victorian roads:

5 people are killed

100 people are seriously injured

- This is preventable
- We can do better
- We must

What if one year of improvement became the start of sustained progress?
The next Victorian Government must build on this momentum.

The Australasian College of Road Safety calls on the next Victorian Government to:

1. Leadership and accountability: Clear responsibility for delivery of strategy actions, public reporting, sustained investment and independent evaluation.
2. Safe neighbourhoods: Safe streets and speed environments around children, schools, services and activity centres.
3. Safe transport choices: Public transport, walking and cycling options that are designed to protect people from fatal and serious injury.
4. Safe behaviour and compliance: Road design, technology, education and enforcement working together as one system.
5. Equity, data and post-crash care: Better public access to data, investment based on evidence and need, and comprehensive support after a crash.
6. Community partnership: Early participation and communication that builds understanding, trust and shared ownership of the road safety goals.
